

PERKINS-SMITH MATCH A DRAW

Fans Believe St. Paul Boy Had Shade Over Clever Colored Boxer

Although the boxing match between Billy Perkins of St. Paul, and Burrell Smith (colored) of Duluth, at the Grand Opera House last Thursday night, was decided a draw by Referee Belliel it is the opinion of the majority of the fans in attendance that the white boy had the shade over his ebony skinned opponent.

During the ten rounds of mixing the Duluth idol went down two times as the result of Perkins' telling wallops. He also clung to Billy's neck like an ardent lover and proved to be an adept in the art of hugging. These tactics are taken by the knowing ones to have been the "smoke's" method of avoiding a knock-out. The lad from the Saintly City was a huge surprise to all who witnessed his work. He loomed up in the ring like a fresh plucked rose and the way he kept Smith within bounds was actually pretty. Only once did he fall to his knees, but was on his feet in an instant and into the game. Even his manager, William Daniels, was startled at his cleverness and effective generalship. That Perkins is the making of a top notcher there is little doubt. "Gate" Daniels hopes to some day see his protegee's name shine out among the famous ones in the middleweight row.

The black boy from the head of the lakes is a classy boxer and Thursday evening was in fine condition. He went into the fray with every confidence that he had too deal with an easy one but soon discovered his mistake.

The preliminaries were good. Geo. Carroll boxed six rounds with Eddie Christanson and the decision was a draw. They are middleweights and handy with the gloves.

Nap Bruly and Kid McGuire, bantams, jogged along for three rounds, Bruly losing on a foul.

The crowd in attendance at the show was a large one, an indication that the sporting fraternity of Rhinelander appreciate a good, clean boxing card. This gives encouragement to the game here and paves the way for more bouts to come.

G. P. CROSBY IS DELEGATE

To Democratic National Convention at Baltimore

C. P. Crosby, real estate dealer and lumberman of this city, has been appointed alternate delegate at large from the state of Wisconsin to the Democratic national convention at Baltimore, Md. Mr. Crosby is a staunch Democrat and has always taken active interest in the party's affairs. He received his appointment this week and informs the New North that he will attend the convention.

All the regular delegates for national conventions will be chosen at the election April 2nd. The alternates are appointed.

BIJOU PROGRAMS PLEASE

Large crowds have been attending the shows at the new Bijou theater this week and the programs have been of a very pleasing nature. The Vitagraph, Biograph and Pathé films shown at this theater cannot be excelled. The subjects are among the best. Mr. White continues to receive many compliments on his singing.

PRISCILLAS' MARCH MEETING

The March committee of the Priscillas held its regular monthly social gathering at the residence of Mrs. D. F. Recker, Monday evening. A program appropriate to St. Patrick's day was carried out and Irish stories and songs were given by those present. Mrs. F. C. Sawtell was awarded the prize for the best song. The decorations were in green.

THE GORSKI CASE

An Adjournment of One Day Is Allowed
By Judge Walker.

In municipal court Wednesday an adjournment of one day was taken in the case of Sigmund and Joseph Gorski of Three Lakes who are charged with assault and robbery from the person.

The Gorski brothers were arrested on the complaint of R. J. Wunderlich, a Three Lakes hotel man, who charged that on February 11 last, they in company with several others attacked and relieved him of a considerable sum of money.

The case came before Judge Walker Wednesday and after the state had rested the defense asked for an adjournment of two days on the plea that they were taken by surprise by the state's testimony. A one day adjournment was allowed. Several witnesses were examined.

KILLS SHERIFF; SHOT BY POSSE

Wahpeton, N. D., Officers Seek Relatives Of Dead Desperado Here

Chief of Police Straub is searching for relatives of Bert Hudson, alias John Walderman, who was shot and killed by a posse near Wahpeton, N. D., after he had murdered Sheriff C. E. Moody. A photograph of Hudson taken after death was sent the chief by Sheriff W. P. Robbins of Wahpeton with the request that an effort be made to learn the man's real name and his former home.

Chief Straub says that Hudson was in Rhinelander last fall, that he arrested him as a suspicious character and later ordered him out of the city. The fellow, according to the officer, had all the earmarks of a bad man and had served time in prison. He also was in Rhinelander during the summer of 1911 and it is the opinion of Chief Straub that his home is somewhere in this vicinity.

It is learned here that Hudson shot Sheriff Moody while endeavoring to avoid arrest. He was chased by a posse of state deputies and citizens with the result that after a desperate fight the outlaw was killed.

The Wahpeton officers are anxious to secure information regarding Hudson's people so that they may be notified and his body sent them if so desired.

IMPOSE FINES FOR GAMBLING

Police Raid Seibel Saloon and Arrest Card Players
Sunday Morning

Acting upon the direct information of P. E. Parker, Officer John O'Brien raided the saloon of A. B. Seibel, corner Stevens and Davenport streets early Sunday morning and arrested Elmer Schellenger, James Tubbs, Mike Jennings, J. A. Buskey, John Locke and Frank Stransky on the charge of gambling. All with the exception of Frank Stransky, who left the city Sunday, were arraigned before Judge Walker, Monday, pleaded guilty to the charge and were each fined ten dollars and costs. A. B. Seibel, proprietor of the saloon, was unwilling to contend the case and was imposed with a similar fine.

It is to be regretted that a larger audience did not witness the production of "The Wolf" at the Grand Opera House Monday evening. The company was a strong one and the various characters of the story were cleverly taken. The play deals with the north woods of Canada and has been presented in this city before under a different title.

LA FOLLETTE SWEEPS DAKOTA FOR PRESIDENT

Defeats Roosevelt By 15,000 And Taft By Over Ten To One
The Claims Of The LaFollette Managers Were Borne Out In Every Particular

ROBERT MARION LA FOLLETTE

EARLIEST in the field among "Progressive" Republican candidates was Robert Marion La Follette, senior senator from Wisconsin. His personality as a fighter and "miser" is sufficiently indicated by the nickname of "Battle Bob," by which he is known among his constituents, a sobriquet which he earned early in his political career. He has been thrice governor of Wisconsin and has served in two congresses as representative. He was elected senator for the term 1905-11 and re-elected for the 1911-17 term. He led the movement to nominate all candidates by direct vote. Prominent among his supporters for the 1912 presidential nomination is Gifford Pinchot, who was the close friend and adviser of President Roosevelt during the latter part of his administration. Senator La Follette received twenty-five votes for the nomination in the last Republican national convention.

LITTLE GIRLS TO GIVE PLAY

"Land of Nod" Will Be Presented At Congregational Church

A play, entitled "The Land of Nod" will be given in the basement of the Congregational church, Saturday night at seven-thirty o'clock. Admission adults 15c, children 10c.

The play was written by Marion Crosby, one of the members of the class, and is interspersed with singing and dancing. The little misses have labored under unfavorable conditions to produce the play so that they may make a good round sum to add to the Easter offering and they have tried to make it attractive by appearing in unique costumes. Following is the cast of characters:

Little Sleepers—Alice Johnson, Lucille Westgate.
Mother of Sleepers—Ingeborg Lindgren.
Queen of the Land of Nod—Marion Crosby.
Maid—Katherine Dresden.
Attendants—Doris Danielson, Mabel Johnson.
Spring—Ingeborg Lindgren.
Flerly—Leone Kimball.
Mrs. Easter Bunny—Frances Lowell.
Mrs. Robin Redbreast—Margaret Nelson.
Miss Butterfly—Elizabeth Crosby.
Master Duck—Raymond Johnson.

WILL ISSUE BONDS FOR HIGH SCHOOL

Alderman Crosby Introduces Ordinance for $38,000 Issue
for New Building

At the adjourned meeting of the city council Tuesday night an ordinance was introduced by C. P. Crosby for the purpose of issuing school bonds to the amount of $38,000 with which to erect a new high school building. The matter will come up for consideration and passage at the April meeting of the council. A copy of the ordinance appears elsewhere in this issue.

Permission was granted Geo. Hilgerman to repair the building on Stevens street recently damaged by fire.

Mayor Anderle appointed H. J. Danfield city sealer of weights and measures. C. H. Roepcke was appointed a member of the school board from the sixth ward to take the place of Ira Cass who failed to qualify.

There is scarcely any change in the condition of Louis Cruse who is ill at his home in this city.

WESTERN UNION CASE

Court Grants Order Restraining Revocation Of Charter

A temporary restraining order was granted to attorneys for the Western Union Telegraph company at a hearing in United States circuit court in Chicago, Judge A. L. Sanborn presiding, forbidding Secretary of State Frear to revoke the charter of the corporation. The order was granted upon a stipulation entered into between Deputy Attorney General Russell Jackson and Attorneys A. G. Zimmerman and R. B. Smith for the company.

April 15 was set for a hearing of the case at which time the attorneys for the Western Union will make a motion for a permanent injunction. The case must be heard by three judges of which Judge Sanborn probably will be one.

The situation arises out of a suit of former Secretary of State Houser for damages against the Western Union. The company removed the case from a state court to a United States court, thus incurring the penalty of forfeiture of charter rights under the Wisconsin law. The company claims a charter from the national government as a federal postroad.

MYSTIC WORKERS LOSE COURT CASE

Jury Returns Verdict In Favor of Lizzie Brahmstad
Thursday

In the case of Lizzie Brahmstad, who sued the Mystic Workers lodge for the recovery of $2000 insurance money carried in that order by her son, Edward Brahmstad, who was killed by William Barnes, the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff late Thursday night.

The case attracted no little attention due to the fact that it was one of the first instances recorded in this city where a lodge refused to pay insurance to the beneficiaries of a deceased member. It was contended by the defendant order that Brahmstad was the aggressor in the quarrel with Barnes which led to his death and that he lost his life solely through his own fault. Assuming such the facts the lodge declared that the young man violated the terms of his policy contract and therefore his beneficiaries could not collect his insurance. Several witnesses testified in the case and from some of their testimony it was shown that Brahmstad, by the manner in which he had been shot and the circumstances leading up to the shooting, had been cruelly murdered.

The jury retired at 5:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon and were out until about 9 o'clock that night.

The whereabouts of William Barnes who killed Brahmstad are unknown. There is hanging over his head here a warrant for his arrest on the charge of murder. The officers are of the opinion that some day he will become careless and return to the scene of his crime. He is believed to be in the West.

Had the jury in the recent lawsuit decided in favor of the defendant the verdict would have meant a weight toward acquiring much if he should ever be captured and tried for the deed.

NEW FURNITURE STOCK

Dietrick & Nitke have just received an elegant stock of furniture at their store on Rives street. The line consists of all the latest designs and the prices are comparatively low. At this store a home can be fitted up most comfortably at an economical figure.

Since embarking in business before the holidays this firm has had a steady patronage. They also do much work in upholstering and picture framing.

Miss Esther Newell left Friday for Iron River to fill a vacancy in the public schools. The position was one which she formerly held and her popularity there, caused the school board to make her a flattering offer.

NEW RIFLE RANGE FOR TARGET WORK

Council Grants Company L Permission To Use Swamp
East of City

At the meeting of the city council Tuesday night permission was granted Company L to establish a new rifle range for target practice in the swamp in the eastern part of the city. The aldermen voted 7 to 3 in favor of the proposition.

The old range on the "hogback" has been abandoned on account of the proximity of the adjoining farms which renders shooting there unsafe.

In constructing the new range it will be necessary to drain a portion of the swamp and build a firm passage way from the point of shooting to the backstop on the eastern side of the marsh. The opinion that the range will be in a locality dangerous to the public when shooting is in progress is regarded as impossible by Capt. D. H. Walker of the company. The captain explains that the target pit will be located over 1100 yards from Baird Avenue and that only a small part of the range will be within the city limits. The backstop will be stationed on a side hill which overlooks the eastern edge of the swamp in an isolated district. Furthermore the regulations governing marksmen while at target practice require firing to be carried on under such conditions as to prevent accidents.

Work on the range will be commenced as soon as the weather permits and when completed it will be one of the finest military target practice grounds in Wisconsin.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Hibernians Celebrate Occasion In This City Last Sunday

The St. Patrick's Day celebration in Rhinelander last Sunday was carried out according to the program as arranged by the Ancient Order of Hibernians. In the morning the members of the order participated in a parade through the principal streets of the city to St. Mary's church where they attended services. The military band playing all the familiar airs of "Old Erin" headed the procession.

In the evening at St. Mary's church a large and appreciative audience listened to an able address on Ireland by the Very Rev. Dean C. Schmit of Rice Lake. Rev. Schmit is an eloquent speaker and his lecture was most impressive. A splendid program of vocal and instrumental music in keeping with the day was also given.

BOWLERS TRY FOR PRIZES

Tournament At Anderson Alleys Is Proving Big Event

All the bowlers of the city have participated in the tournament being held this week at the Anderson alleys. This is by all means the greatest event in bowling circles ever held in Rhinelander and from early until late the alleys have been kept hot. Teams and individuals have competed for prizes and some surprising scores have been made.

Manager Thos. Lawrence, of the Anderson alleys announces that the tournament will close tonight at which time the winners in the different events will be awarded their prizes. The list of successful contestants together with the scores will appear in the next issue of the New North.

TO JAIL FOR ASSAULT

In Judge Walker's court Wednesday afternoon Joe Bennett of Pelican Lake was fined $5 and trimmings or 30 days in jail for assault. Being minus funds he is now taking his meals at the Hotel De Crockett.

The complaint against the man was made by John Schaum who Bennett battered up in beautiful style at Pelican Lake on March 14.

Polkville—

The breaking of a binder chain on a load of logs caused the death of William Fleitner of this city. In driving over a sharp turn in the road, the chain broke and let the logs roll off the sleigh, the unfortunate man either jumping off or going down with the logs. He was 25 years of age and married. This is the first fatal accident to occur in this vicinity during the present logging season.

Marquette—

Joseph Hubbard Jr. was taken from the work house here by Sheriff Ireland of Crescent City, Ill., and returned to that place to answer to a charge of murder. Hubbard with two other young men were on a chicken stealing expedition and when apprehended by Melvin Broderick and several others of Crescent City, it is alleged they shot, killing Broderick. The trio was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of murder.

Park Falls—

At a special election the voters decided for the city form of government for Park Falls. The vote on the question was 131 in favor of adopting a charter to 40 against, showing a sentiment of better than 3 to 1 for the change. This will change the membership of the Price county board from 21 to 24. Park Falls will thereafter send one-sixth of the representatives to the county board instead of one-twenty-first as before.

Antigo—

The International Holst company has purchased a tract of land in the north end of the city upon which it will erect a modern well equipped factory for the manufacture of holsts. The plans of the directors will call for an expenditure of $20,000. The holsts have already been tried out by contractors and the company is being flooded with an influx of orders from all over the country.

Hurley—

The G. & I. C. R. & L. Co. has started running a street car in the city of Bessemer, in order to comply with the company's agreement with the council made at the time the franchise was granted. For the present the car will be run over a small stretch of track covering seven city blocks but the line will be extended as soon as possible.

Ashland—

The members of the Central Labor Council have appointed a committee to circulate petitions in this city, asking congress to authorize the construction of at least one battleship each year in the government navy yard. The petitions protest against the building of all of the battleships in the yards of the steel trust and demand that in the interest of economy and competition that the government navy yards be authorized to construct at least one each year.

Ironwood—

A large number of forged checks have been passed within the last few days on business men of this city and several are out large sums of money. The checks were all drawn on the bank of Ironwood and bore the purported signature of August Rintala, a leading tailor here. The paper was passed by a Finland who was a stranger in the city. He has not been apprehended.

Merrill—

The Merrill Railway & Lighting system has placed its order for the sixth ward trackless trolley system and expects to start work on the construction as soon as the frost leaves the ground.

Barren—

Fred Braton on his plea of guilty to enticing a seventeen year old girl from home, was sentenced to one year at Waupun. Braton, who has a wife and four children, pretended to the girl and her parents that his wife was ill and wanted her to do house work for him, but instead of taking her to his home he took her to a neighbor and left her there for immoral purposes. The girl complained and his arrest followed. The other culprit made his escape.

Mellen—

In one of the lumber camps of the Mellen Lumber company an accident resulted in the death of one woodsman and the fatal injury of another. The men were inside of a freight car loading ties and had piled the ties in each end of the car. The car started rolling down the track and when it bumped into another car with considerable force the two piles of ties came together, crushing the two men between them, one being killed outright.

Baking Powder Biscuits

Light as a Feather

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

Baking Powder Biscuits made by this recipe are so far ahead of ordinary baking powder biscuits that, if once tried, you will never use any other recipe. Try it the next time you run short of bread. Save this recipe.

K C Baking Powder Biscuits

Three cups flour; ½ to ¾ cup shortening; 1 level teaspoonful K C Baking Powder; about 1 cup milk or water; 1 teaspoon salt.

Sift three times, the flour, salt and baking powder. Work into the flour the shortening, using lard or butter for shortening. Then mix to a very soft dough with the milk. The softer the dough the better. Never knead baking powder biscuits; press the dough into shape and roll lightly. Cut in small shapes and bake on a sheet or very shallow pan in a hot oven. In placing biscuits in the pans place well apart, not allowing edges to touch. Small biscuits are better than large ones. Large biscuits do not have the proper amount of time to rise and bake.

Have you seen the new K C Cook's Book? A list of appetizing recipes that simply must be successful every time! The new simple directions are carefully followed. You would gladly pay 50 cents for this valuable book, yet we send it absolutely free upon receipt of the enclosed card packed in every tin of K C Baking Powder. JACOBS MFG. CO., Chicago. Woodsmen Are Returning To Homes After Winter's Work

Camps in this part of the state are beginning to cease operations and the woodsmen are returning home from their long winter's work.

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman states that contrary to the general opinion there has not been more than an average amount of snow fallen since Xmas time in the woods, but as there was plenty before that time conditions have been very favorable for logging operations. The weather has been severely cold and no trouble has been experienced in keeping ice roads in the best of repair. Lumbermen who have been in the woods a good deal the present winter say that the extreme cold weather has taken all the life out of the snow and for this reason there is no fear of heavy floods when the weather becomes warmer. The cold weather has made the snow brittle and has taken the body out of it. It is claimed that the spring will be early for with the least thaw the snow will go quickly.

GOOD ADVICE TO WOODMEN

Herman L. Ebers, Commissioner of Insurance of Wisconsin, says, in speaking of the change in rates made by the Modern Woodmen: "Even as a matter of dollars and cents, members of re-rating societies should continue their insurance because their rates will be as low as any that can be offered in this state for the same kind of insurance by any permanent society, and because any member changing from one society to another pays something more in the first cost of getting into the society or securing other insurance. Members who think of dropping their insurance will do well to take enough time to study the question before doing anything which may bring regret to both themselves and their families."

DEAD DOG CREATES TROUBLE

A homeless dog that had been injured by a Northwestern train wandered into the alley way in the rear of Alex Stacey's saloon Friday morning and was shot under orders of Charles Belliel, humane officer. After the animal had been disposed of the question came up as to who would bury the carcass. Officer Belliel refused to do so on the ground that it was not his duty. Charles was busy answering phone calls. In regard to the matter all day and he came so disgusted that he felt like resigning his office and giving up his salary of $1200 per—haps. The beast was finally laid to rest by Mr. Stacey.

COUNTY RICH IN FISH AND GAME

Annual Report Of State Warden Shows Some Startling Figures

While dairying and timber are among the foremost resources of the Upper Wisconsin valley, and the ideal water power sites promises added mammoth industries in the near future, the residents of the Upper Wisconsin valley are the heirs to resources nearly as great as these in the excellent fishing and hunting found in Lincoln, Oneida and Vilas counties. The annual report of the state fish and game warden aptly styles Wisconsin as the "playground of the middle west." The report contains the following information regarding the past year's hunting and fishing.

Estimated value of domestic fur sold in the state during the past year $1,262,500; small game killed, $250,800; fish caught in outlying waters, $1,000,000; in inland waters, $320,000; 7,535 deer killed, $141,281; total, $33,184,581. Of this amount, it is estimated that over $500,000 was realized from fish and game secured in the Upper Wisconsin Valley. The state of Maine prides itself for its fisheries and hunting and claims that $15,000,000 is spent annually by visiting sportsmen. As a "conservative estimate of the number of hunters and other sportsmen to the north each year is 10,000, and that each of these, spends an average of $200, the amount realized from hunting and fishing in the Upper Wisconsin valley district would annually approximate $2,000,000, considerable of which is spent in the maintenance of cottages, boat houses and boats and in employing guides, etc., as well as for the purchasing of necessities.—Merrill Herald.

You judge a man not by what he promises to do, but by what he has done. That is the only true test. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy judged by this standard has no superior. People everywhere speak of it in the highest terms of praise. For sale by All Dealers.

Harold Brady, who is associated with his father in the publication of the Crandon Forest Republican, was in the city Tuesday. Mr. Brady also owns a moving picture theater at Crandon which is proving a profitable business. While here he visited the Majestic and Bijou theaters and was very well pleased with them.

"Bud" Lewis, Pete LaPage, Sam Perinler Jr., Red McElrone and Ramo Redfield went to Tomahawk Friday afternoon to attend the girls' basketball game. On their return home they missed the train at Hartford Junction and had a delightful all day wait in that bustling metropolis. Rev. Lewis went on a sight seeing trip and nearly got lost in the buzz of traffic.

An entertainment by the grade pupils will be presented at the Opera House, Thursday evening, March 28th. The first part of the program will consist of special numbers by the little tots of the first and second grades. The second part will be a cantata, "The Carnival of the Flowers," in which pupils from all the other grades will take part. Admission 15 cents.

DON'T SAY YOU'RE OLD

You Only Feel Old

Digestive organs are weak—don't assimilate food as they used to.

Other organs act more slowly and less effectively.

Blood is thin and sluggish.

Renewal of strength does not equal the wear and tear of your system.

That's what makes you feel old.

Nothing in the world will tone up and invigorate those weak, back-sliding organs, make rich blood and create strength so quickly as Vinol.

Vinol is not a secret nostrum, simply the medicinal elements of the cod's livers, with the useless nauseating oil eliminated, and tonic from added. Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not make you stronger, feel younger and give you an added interest in life.

CASE A SAD ONE

Herman Strehlau, who was awarded $15,000 damages against the Schroeder Lumber Company by a jury in circuit court here last week is an inmate of the Ashland county poor house. When he first sued the company, Judge Higbee of La Crosse who tried the case, granted a non-suit. This the state supreme court sustained. Strehlau thereupon, was obliged to break up his home, his wife going out to work and his children divided, while he became a county charge. His attorneys, Eaton and Eaton and Frank Lamoreaux, brought a new case with the result in the plaintiff's favor. Strehlau is in a sad plight and those acquainted with his case are glad to see him win.

ENGAGES GIRL SINGER

In signing Miss Irene La Blanc of Washburn as singer of illustrated songs at the Majestic theater Mr. Zander is giving the people one of the greatest treats in the vocal line ever heard in this city. Miss LaBlanc possesses a beautiful voice of powerful range which has a charming effect upon the audience. She was formerly engaged in electric theaters at Washburn and Ashland. She is only eighteen years of age.

Five good programs of pictures are produced at the Majestic weekly composing a variety of instructive and entertaining subjects. Mr. Zander also gives a fine picture show every Saturday night at the Grand Opera House.

LAFOLLETTE DELEGATES

The people of Wisconsin have never been called to a more important duty than this, to once more rally the progressives, the soldiers of the people's cause to the support of Robert M. LaFollette for President. If you wish to assist him to get the republican nomination for president vote for the following delegates April 2. At Large,

Francis E. McGovern,
Andrew H. Dahl,
Alvin P. Kletzsch,
Walter L. Houser.

Delegates for 11th district.

David C. Jones,
Albert W. Sanborn.

The municipal primary was held in Milwaukee Tuesday. Doctor G. A. Rading was chosen as non-partisan candidate for mayor by a vote of over 26,000 and Mayor Seidel was renominated as mayor on the socialist ticket by a vote of 17,200. It is evident that the two old parties felt their absolute necessity for a combination to stand any show against the socialist ticket.

H. T. Ames of Minocqua is a candidate for re-election as Municipal Judge of the second Municipal District of this county and we see no reason why he should not receive the solid support of the voters for re-election. We believe he is upright, honest and impartial in the discharge of his duties as judge. Why make a change?

The first annual farmers' course will be held at the city hall March 28-30, under the auspices of Mr. E. L. Luther. This should receive the support of all classes. Farmers should be present and make the most of this golden opportunity. Everything said and done will be with the view of aiding to do better farming. Be present and help boost for modern up-to-date farming. Your help is needed for the uplift of Oneida County. Be present and do your share.

LAFOLLETTE WINS IN DAKOTA

In the presidential primary in North Dakota Tuesday, Senator Robert M. LaFollette defeated Theodore Roosevelt by fifteen thousand majority. Taft was not even a good third in the race; Senator LaFollette defeated him twelve to one.

It would look as though the President were not even known in the state. A short time ago the local special interest organ informed us that LaFollette was dead, surely a lively corpse. Every honest citizen of this state who believes in a square deal for the masses will vote for the LaFollette delegates April 2nd. Senator LaFollette should receive the greatest vote he has ever received in the history of this state at a primary. Big business is doing ing everything in its power to defeat him but we believe the masses are aware of their selfish interest and will overwhelmingly support LaFollette.

STEVENS FOR SENATOR

Gov. McGovern Tuesday issued the call for a special session of the legislature, to convene on April 30, to take up the matter of providing relief for Black River Falls; to make improvements of the levee system on the Wisconsin river at and near Portage; to enact water power legislation and consider several other subjects.

At the same time he issued precepts for three special elections to fill vacancies in the legislature, two in the senate and one in the assembly.

One of the special elections is for this the thirtieth district in place of the late James Wright.

Up to date W. T. Stevens, of this city whom we advocated for the vacancy in last week's New North, is the only candidate on the republican side and we believe will be the only republican candidate in the field.

Mr. Stevens is popular, has had much to do with public affairs and should make an influential legislator at Madison. As a starter Oneida county should give W. T. Stevens a solid vote April 2, for the republican nomination.

Do not forget the date or overlook him. It is at the same time of the town and city election April 2.

HIGH MORAL COURAGE

The recent killing of the presiding judge, prosecuting attorney and sheriff in the mountain districts of Virginia after a trial and conviction of a mountaineer for a violation of law is a fine example of the moral courage necessary in official position in some sections of our country. Threats had been freely made that in the event of the conviction of the prisoner, revenge would be taken by the gang of which he was the leader, and yet these officers went about their official duties with a wonderful resolution and disregard of consequences. The prosecuting attorney stated as he entered the court room on that fateful day that he supposed that would be his last day on earth—and it was; but it did not deter him from the work of his official position that he had sworn to do. Such courage as that should be commemorated in some manner by the state of Virginia. Those men went to their death with their eyes open to the danger that threatened but without regard to it persisted in their efforts to uphold the majesty of the law in that part of the state. The memory of these men should be kept before the people of this country as an example of fearless men, upright citizens, and loyal supporters of the Government they served. May they rest in peace!

INSISTS ON PUBLIC TRIAL

A special school board meeting was held in the council rooms last evening to take up the charge of brutal treatment made by Mr. Ben Larson against Supt. F. A. Harrison. Mr. Harrison sought this investigation after the written charges were filed. Last night's meeting developed nothing damaging and Mr. Harrison insisted on a full public impartial trial at a later date and he is entitled to it. People should be exceedingly careful in attacking teachers from reports of children. There are two sides to every question and the teacher is surely entitled to be heard. Before taking up the investigation Miss Keyes, the present resident visiting nurse spoke on the necessity for a physical examination of all school children and asked the board to grant this. Miss Mae Browne spoke earnestly and intelligently along this same line urging physical examination. Through a misunderstanding a few did not take Miss Keyes in the way we believe she wished to be understood, nor do we believe she wished to slur any institution or school. The time has come for a physical examination of school children and we hope when this proposition is to be acted on at the next school board meeting it will not be rejected simply through prejudice. Decide upon the merit of the case.

WRONG MAN FOR MAYOR

As was predicted in last week's New North H. C. Braeger announced his candidacy for mayor of this city Monday. His announcement appears in this paper together with his platform. Mr. Braeger is the man chosen by the secret caucus a few Sundays ago and presented to the convention and defeated the Sunday following by Arthur Taylor. There is nothing in Mr. Braeger's platform to indicate that he would do any better for good government than the other candidates. He has not committed himself on a single municipal question. Some of the men who are supporting him talk much about controlling the saloons and giving better government, but the fact is the fire and police commission have entire charge of the police and fire depart-

CLOSING SESSION OF COUNTY BOARD

Members Wind Up Matters of the Year at Meeting This Week

The county board closed its session yesterday afternoon after cleaning up the matters of the year. One important resolution which will be published in the regular proceedings later demands justice for the local towns in taxation from the state for the lands the state purchased and holds.

After a forceful appropriate plea from Miss Mae Browne, fifteen dollars per month were allowed to assist in paying the salary of a visiting nurse. An attempt was made to kill the proposition for a county road through Woodborn west but failed. A resolution was adopted inviting the assessor of incomes to use a room and a vault in the courthouse for his work. The following voted No. Brown, Conniff, Keppler and Lubold, but, as seen, the resolution was carried by a large majority. At the close of the meeting the following resolution was passed.

Resolved, that we the members of the County Board of Oneida County extend to our Chairman, F. E. Parker, our thanks for his consideration, courtesy and efforts in the conduct of the County business transacted by this Board, its several members and committees.

Be it further resolved that we extend to our Vice Chairman, Henry Walker, Sr. our thanks for his consideration, courtesy and efforts while acting as the presiding officer of this Board.

ROBBINS FARMERS HEAR E. L. LUTHER

County Representative Holds Big Meeting In Sugar Camp Sunday

Thirty-six people gathered in "The Lobby" at Robbins on Sunday to meet County Representative E. L. Luther and to talk over agricultural matters for Sugar Camp township. All nationalities of that cosmopolitan township were represented, and a most interested audience it was. It may be that the farmers of some counties are not interested in trying to improve agriculture and to study more progressive ways of farming, but it is certain that the farmers of Oneida county do not belong to this class. Some of the farmers present at the meeting came four or five miles through the big snow storm to be at the meeting. One man, eighty-eight years of age walked four miles to be present. In the number were several young men and three women. The County Representative was given the closest attention. No one seemed in a great hurry to go. The meeting had been well advertised and but for the big snow storm it would have been a record breaker.

Sugar Camp township is all right. It has one good herd of Holstein cattle and the beginning of three or four herds of Guernsey cows. One pure-bred Guernsey cow whose production is weighed every day and careful account kept of feed is figured to return the owner a net of $153 in butterfat alone while her total return will be not far from $200. What one farmer can do another can do by following the same methods. Suppose the farmers of Sugar Camp township owned ten such cows apiece. It would be one of the richest townships in the state. The dairy way is the way of the golden stream. Besides the real money in it will enrich the farms for big crops of cabbage and potatoes. There is no need of farmers and settlers in Oneida county remaining poor. Pure bred dairy herds will make Oneida county as good as any in the state of Wisconsin.

In another place in this issue will be found the program of the Farmers' Course given by the College of Agriculture. Look it over. There is something for everybody. The program has been arranged to fit the needs of a dairy, potato and cabbage farm. Try to attend the whole course. But if that is impossible, look for the subjects that are of most interest to you and take in the day on which they come. Farmers should get their neighbors to come. The College of Agriculture is coming a long way to Rhinelander. The farmers should come from their homes to Rhinelander. Let's show the College of Agriculture that the people of Oneida county appreciate the work that College is trying to do here. March 23, 29 and 30 are the days and the place is the City Hall, Rhinelander. Dean Russell will probably be present on Friday and speak on Friday evening. Professor Hatch will be present on Thursday and will speak on Thursday evening. People of the city should be interested in these addresses. The program of each day will begin at 10 o'clock in the forenoon and every one should make a big endeavor to be on hand so that there may be no delay in starting.

TRAINING SCHOOL NOTES

Beda Bergman is absent this week on account of illness.

Miss Josephine English entered school as a Junior the beginning of this week. This makes a total of 39 enrolled.

The Literary Society meets Friday March 22. A good program is being prepared, and all who desire to see the literary work of the Training school may attend.

The practice teachers will begin their new classes next Monday.

The faculty have chosen Miss Louise Day for salutatorian and Miss Florence Dahlstrand for valedictorian, for the class of 1912.

The agricultural department has prepared a corn germinator for the farmers' course.

Each boy, when he finishes the short course in agriculture will have a nail box, corn tester, rope halter and eight bulletin cases, which he has made.

The Agricultural department is now busy studying the gasoline engine. A set of McCann's History Charts has just been added to our equipment.

Charles John spent Sunday with Monico friends.

CORRUPT PRACTICE LAW

Provisions In Which Voters And Candidates Are Interested

The corrupt practice law passed by the last legislature intended to procure purity in elections is very stringent and provides severe penalties for any violation thereof. We give below some of the provisions in which the voters at large are most interested:

No person shall demand, solicit, take, invite or receive from any candidate, from any personal campaign committee or member thereof, or from any party committee, or member thereof, any payment or contribution, or obligation, express or implied, for payment or contribution of money or thing of value for any religious, charitable or fraternal cause or organization, except for personal campaign committees or regular party committees. No such candidate, committee or member thereof, shall make or promise or intimate that he will or may make such payment or contribution in the future.

Nothing herein contained shall prohibit the payment of the regular subscription or contribution by any person to an organization of which he is a member, or to which he may have been a regular contributor, prior to his candidacy or membership on such committee, nor the ordinary contributions at a regular church service.

No person nor personal campaign committee or party committee shall pay or incur any obligation, express or implied, to pay any sum of money or thing of value whatever, for service to be performed on the day of any primary or election, in behalf of any candidate, party, or measure, to be voted upon at said primary or election; or for any political service performed on such day, or for any loss of time or damage suffered by attendance at the polls at the primary or election, or in registering for voting, or for the expense of transportation of any voter to or from the polls on such day.

No person shall purchase anything of value such as cigars, drinks, etc., for political purposes while candidate, nor shall any person promise or pay for any political worker, or for any influence of a political nature, nor can any person for him do any of the things herein before forbidden. Nor shall any person ask or solicit of any candidate for office any money, promise, pretense

Farmers' Course at City Hall March 28, 29 and 30

The accompanying program announces the first annual farmers' course in Oneida county in charge of Mr. E. L. Luther, Agricultural Representative. Mr. Luther is employed jointly by the county and the University to assist with the teaching of agriculture in the training school, to give a short course for farmer boys during the winter months, to hold an annual meeting for all the farmers in the county and to arrange for and assist with local farmers' meetings throughout the county.

WARNS AUTO OWNERS

As spring approaches Chief of Police Straub issues warning to all motorcycle and auto owners that all cases of speed violation which comes to the attention of the police will result in arrests. He asserts that he does not propose to play any favorites but will treat all alike and anyone who disregards the speed law will have to pay the penalty. All cars and cycles must carry lights at night and horns must be tooted at every street crossing. A strict compliance with these rules will save drivers trouble and prevent accidents.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE

Administrator's sale of the Ball Hivery barn. Horses, harnesses, carriages and sleighs. For further information inquire of F. T. Coon, administrator.

With the approach of spring now is the time to advertise. If you wish to move that stock of winter merchandise to make room for new goods tell the people of your bargains through the columns of the New North.

Sister Margaret, Superioress of St. Augustine's Hospital, Minocqua, reports a very successful winter's collection through the northern part of Minnesota. She was the only Sister who collected in Minnesota this winter. She has also spent a happy St. Patrick's Day at the parsonage of the Independent Catholic church at Duluth.

FLASHES FROM THE HEADLIGHT

Bits of News Pertaining To The Soo and Northwestern Railroads

All Soo line employees concerned in the handling or moving of trains will be thoroughly examined as to their familiarity with the new rules contained in the recent issue of the railway's rule book. As there have been quite a number of changes over the rules formerly in use, employees coming under the class mentioned will necessarily have to devote considerable time in studying the rules before they can hope to successfully answer the questions presented by the examining board. The number of questions to be asked will be well up in the hundreds and the answers to these must be written, not verbal. Special cars are now being fitted for use in conducting these tests, these being equipped with long tables and seats. They will be moved from point to point, throughout the entire system.

It is estimated that the work of issuing the new rules and the examination of employees will cost the Soo line $25,000. However, the money will probably be well spent, because of the increased efficiency of the men.

John T. Carmody of Egg Harbor, Door county, is probably the oldest stockholder of the C. & N. W. railway. When the Northwestern was being built north from Chicago, Carmody was employed upon it. He had $120 coming in wages, and there was not enough in the treasury to pay him. He was given $20 in cash and a share of stock the par value of which was $100. Carmody thought the stock was of little value, lost it, and from that time until recently gave the matter little thought. Recently he was in Chicago and accidentally stumbled into a directors' meeting and told his story. When he returned home he was informed the record of his one share of stock is being looked up, and in all probability will be found, and he will be paid its market value of today.

Two gravel trains are now at work on the Soo line's new Duluth short line out of Dresser Junction.

Considerable construction work will be carried on by the Soo line this coming spring and summer. Hundreds of miles of new track will be laid.

Miles Sparks, a veteran engineer of the Northwestern died last Thursday in an Escanaba hospital after a five weeks illness with pneumonia.

Owing to the continued cold weather and the great quantity of ice in the harbors, it is now believed that there will be a late opening of navigation on the great lakes, causing the officials of some of the railroads concern, as they are afraid that they will not be able to properly handle all of the business if the opening of navigation is delayed until May. Most of the railroads will be ready to handle ore by the first of April, but it is not expected that there will be any movement at that time.

ST. PATRICK'S BRIDGE PARTY

Mrs. Elmer and Mrs. Eppley gave a pleasant bridge party Saturday afternoon, at which St. Patrick was honored, green being used as the color effect in every conceivable way. In the dining room, shamrock was banked in an attractive way on the center of the large table, while green candles shed a soft light, causing a very pretty effect. The head prize, won by Mrs. F. A. Lowell, was a handsome decorated basket of potatoes while the consolation prize consisting of a large green toy pig was won by Mrs. Pierce.

CHILD NUMBER 17
About one year ago the New North chronicled the arrival of the sixteenth child at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Christian. Tuesday morning the seventeenth child, a daughter, was born to the couple. Unlike the "old woman" who lived in a shoe who had so many children she didn't know what to do, each addition to the Christian family is given a cordial welcome and there is still room for more.

NOTICE
My wife having left my bed and board I hereby warn all persons against trusting her on my account as I refuse to settle any bills which she may contract.
m21— E. A. GIFFORD.

"Dad" and "daddy" were well known in this country in the sixteenth century. "papa" did not come in, borrowed from abroad, until the seventeenth century was well advanced. Florio, at the end of the former century, defined the Italian "pappa" as "the first word that children are taught to call their father, as ours say 'dad,' 'daddy' or 'bab.' " "Dad" seems to be the commoner to mankind of the two. Nausicaa in the "Odyssey" calls her father "pappa phile," dear papa; but Greek has "tata" also, and Welsh has "tat," and Irish "dadd."

Do You Know?
A professor of anatomy at Yale College was asked by a boy the other day why boys were not born with 10 toes on each foot, and the wise man couldn't answer. Most men, after they get to be men, are satisfied with five toes on a foot, but a boy really ought to be allowed 10. With only five on a foot he now slips back while climbing a tree to steal apples. We move that the extra toes be provided before another summer.

Chinese Chorus Girls.
In some Chinese theaters the stage manager has an economical custom of employing dummy figures cut out of cardboard and the like, to swell the ranks of the chorus without at the same time swelling the salary list. Obviously, such a device would never do in this country, for a cardboard chorus girl would hardly satisfy the matrimonial requirements of our gilded youth. In China it is most unusual for women to appear on the stage, and the feminine roles are taken by boys.

New York Uses Much Water.
In the whole world there are only about 1,500,000 people. An inch of rain on our watershed normally would give two gallons of water for every man, woman and child on the surface of the earth. Put it another way: If every man, woman and child on the face of the earth should walk up to the lakes, reservoirs, etc., which hold New York city's water supply, and each pour in two gallons of water, it would not be enough to last that city ten days.

Infant Mortality.
Infant mortality is the most sensitive index we possess of social welfare of sanitary administration, especially under urban conditions. A heavy infant mortality implies a heavier death rate up to five years of age; and right up to adult life the districts suffering from a heavy child mortality have higher death rates than the districts whose infant mortality is low. Neusholme in the National Food Magazine.

Sheer Waste.
"The coal supply of the earth is limited," said the scientist. "No one can say how long it will last." "Great Scott!" exclaimed a man in the back row; "and here we've gone and wasted more'n a bushel of it heatin' the hall for this lecture."—Washington Star.

Overcured.
Doctor—"You admit that I cured you?" "Somma, then why don't you pay my bill?" Patient—"Sorry, doc, but I sleep so soundly now that my wife goes through my pockets nights and takes every cent."—Boston Transcript.

The Dimdummeries

"Whachu doin'?" queried the small boy as he peered cautiously out of the back gate into the alley where the apartment house janitor was superintending the cremation of a rubbish heap. The small boy's nostrils twitched appreciatively as he sniffed the bonfire.

"Mike, the janitor, looked all around and then cautiously said: 'Hist!' and crooked a finger.

"What is it?" gasped the small boy as he tiptoed hurriedly out and joined Mike on the windward side of the blaze.

"It's a cillybration, of mine," the janitor explained. "Every wance in a while I go through the rites."

"What rites?" in an awed whisper. Mike poked in a recalcitrant wad of excelsior and, after swatting the blaze around the edges, put one fist on his hip. "You didn't know," he remarked, "that I was chief of the Dimdummeries before I came to this country, did you? Well, I was!"

The small boy dragged up a box that had escaped the blaze and sat down on it very close to Mike. "Tell me," he begged.

"The Dimdummeries," explained the janitor, "is a flourishing society in the old country that has communications with ghosts an' fairies—an' an' spirits in general. Whenever a Dimdummary wants to talk to a fairy all he has to do is build a magic bonfire on a spot hit by the light of the full moon for five minutes on a Chuesday night. That's very important, picking out the right spot. And lay the first sticks pointing to ward the north!"

The small boy peered at the base of the bonfire, but the janitor sighed. "They ain't any spots that the light of the moon hits on a Chuesday night in this neighborhood," he mourned. "That is, except some that is occupied by buildings and otherwise engaged. But I say the magic words over my fires and pretend it's a glade I'm in and that there are fairies peeking out—"

"Did you—did you ever truly see a fairy, Mike?" the small boy almost whispered.

The janitor laughed condescendingly. "Did I ever see a fairy, now?" he repeated, scornfully. "Well, listen to that! Ain't I telling you how I was the chief of the Dimdummeries and what for would they be making me chief if I couldn't see more fairies than any other man in the county? There was one fairy who—look out, you'll be in the fire, now!—who used to pop up just as sociable an' smoke a pipe with me every time I lit a fire for him! Wance he said: 'Mike, I like you—you're a fine lad, an' you may have two wishes—anything you ask shall be granted!'"

"I know what I'd have asked for!" breathed the small boy. "An airship an'—"

"Airship!" Mike repeated in disgust. "That shows your heedless disposition! A real sensible person would have asked for a wagon load of money, wouldn't he? An' then he could a got a fleet of balloons an' everything."

"Oh, of course!" agreed the small boy, much embarrassed. "Of course he would! But what did you do with all your money, Mike? If I was as rich as that I wouldn't work."

The janitor coughed and was very busy stirring the fire. "What did I do with it?" he repeated, scowling horribly. "I'll tell yer—much as I hate to do it. I stuffed it into old stockings, av coorse, and tuk a board off the wall and chucked 'em into the cavity. They was banknotes—an' the rats and mice ate 'em up. I should have wished for a bank that cudn't fall, for my second wish, an' then I'd have been a rich man today. Instead of wishing as I did for—"

"For what?" demanded the small boy.

"Candy," confessed the janitor, sorrowfully. "I couldn't think of anything I wanted so much as plenty of candy and I got it and ate it all up and that was the end of it!"

The small boy swallowed appreciatively. "Still, you had it," he said philosophically. "That wasn't so awful bad. Did you get chocolate an' caramels and lemon sticks?"

"Oh, all kinds," the janitor said, loftily. "I was sick'n you ever dreamed of being, I tell you! It kind of soured me on that fairy an' I gave him the cold shoulder after that, but it didn't matter because right away the prettiest fairy I ever saw began coming out of a rose bush that—"

"Oh, tell me all about it!" demanded the small boy ecstatically.

"Will-he-le-le!" came down from the back porch of one of the flats.

"There's your mother now," said Mike. "And anyhow—the magic fire's all burned out!"

A Nice Point.
"Every student of history knows that our Christmas customs are a development of Roman Saturnalia." "Oh, surely not all!" "I think so." "No, no! There's no reason to suppose, for instance, that the Romans were all the time being hunched to do their Saturnalian shopping early."—Puck.

FLASHES FROM THE HEADLIGHT

Bits of News Pertaining To The Soo and Northwestern Railroads

All Soo line employees concerned in the handling or moving of trains will be thoroughly examined as to their familiarity with the new rules contained in the recent issue of the railway's rule book. As there have been quite a number of changes over the rules formerly in use, employees coming under the class mentioned will necessarily have to devote considerable time in studying the rules before they can hope to successfully answer the questions presented by the examining board. The number of questions to be asked will be well up in the hundreds and the answers to these must be written, not verbal. Special cars are now being fitted for use in conducting these tests, these being equipped with long tables and seats. They will be moved from point to point, throughout the entire system.

It is estimated that the work of issuing the new rules and the examination of employees will cost the Soo line $25,000. However, the money will probably be well spent, because of the increased efficiency of the men.

John T. Carmody of Egg Harbor, Door county, is probably the oldest stockholder of the C. & N. W. railway. When the Northwestern was being built north from Chicago, Carmody was employed upon it. He had $120 coming in wages, and there was not enough in the treasury to pay him. He was given $20 in cash and a share of stock the par value of which was $100. Carmody thought the stock was of little value, lost it, and from that time until recently gave the matter little thought. Recently he was in Chicago and accidentally stumbled into a directors' meeting and told his story. When he returned home he was informed the record of his one share of stock is being looked up and in all probability will be found, and he will be paid its market value of today.

Two gravel trains are now at work on the Soo line's new Duluth short line out of Dresser Junction.

Considerable construction work will be carried on by the Soo line this coming spring and summer. Hundreds of miles of new track will be laid.

Miles Sparks, a veteran engineer of the Northwestern died last Thursday in an Escanaba hospital after a five weeks illness with pneumonia.

Owing to the continued cold weather and the great quantity of ice in the harbors, it is now believed that there will be a late opening of navigation on the great lakes, causing the officials of some of the railroads concern, as they are afraid that they will not be able to properly handle all of the business. If the opening of navigation is delayed until May. Most of the railroads will be ready to handle ore by the first of April, but it is not expected that there will be any movement at that time.

ST. PATRICK'S BRIDGE PARTY

Mrs. Elbel and Mrs. Eppley gave a pleasant bridge party Saturday afternoon, at which St. Patrick was honored, green being used as the color effect in every conceivable way. In the dining room, shamrock was banked in an attractive way on the center of the large table, while green candles shed a soft light, causing a very pretty effect. The head prize, won by Mrs. F. A. Lowell, was a handsome decorated basket of potatoes while the consolation prize consisting of a large green toy pig was won by Mrs. Pierce.

CHILD NUMBER 17
About one year ago the New North chronicled the arrival of the sixteenth child at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Christian. Tuesday morning the seventeenth child, a daughter, was born to the couple. Unlike the "old woman who lived in a shoe who had so many children she didn't know what to do," each addition to the Christian family is given a cordial welcome and there is still room for more.

LADIES OF RHINELANDER ARE INVITED TO CALL

MRS. J. G. DUNN

Fishhats

"Dad" and "daddy" were well known in this country in the sixteenth century; "papa" did not come in, borrowed from abroad, until the seventeenth century was well advanced. Florio, at the end of the former century, defined the Italian "pappa" as "the first word that children are taught to call their father, as ours say 'dad,' 'daddy' or 'bab.' " "Dad" seems to be the commoner to mankind of the two. Nausicaas in the "Odyssey" calls her father "pappa phile," dear papa; but Greek has "tata" also, and Welsh has "tat," and Irish "dadd."

Do You Know?
A professor of anatomy at Yale College was asked by a boy the other day why boys were not born with 10 toes on each foot, and the wise man couldn't answer. Most men, after they get to be men, are satisfied with five toes on a foot, but a boy really ought to be allowed 10. With only five on a foot he now slips back while climbing a tree to steal apples. We move that the extra toes be provided before another summer.

Chinese Chorus Girls.
In some Chinese theaters the stage manager has an economical custom of employing dummy figures cut out of cardboard and the like, to swell the ranks of the chorus without at the same time swelling the salary list. Obviously, such a device would never do in this country, for a cardboard chorus girl would hardly satisfy the matrimonial requirements of our glided youth. In China it is most unusual for women to appear on the stage, and the feminine roles are taken by boys.

New York Uses Much Water.
In the whole world there are only about 1,500,000 people. An inch of rain on our watershed normally would give two gallons of water for every man, woman and child on the surface of the earth. Put it another way: If every man, woman and child on the face of the earth should walk up to the lakes, reservoirs, etc., which hold New York city's water supply, and each pour in two gallons of water, it would not be enough to last that city ten days.

Infant Mortality.
Infant mortality is the most sensitive index we possess of social welfare of sanitary administration, especially under urban conditions. A heavy infant mortality implies a heavier death rate up to five years of age; and right up to adult life the districts suffering from a heavy child mortality have higher death rates than the districts whose infant mortality is low.—Neusholme in the National Food Magazine.

Sheer Waste.
"The coal supply of the earth is limited," said the scientist. "No one can say how long it will last." "Great Scott!" exclaimed a man in the back row; "and here we're gone and wasted more'n a bushel of it beatin' the hall for this lecture."—Washington Star.

Overcured.
Doctor—"You admit that I cured you?" "Somma, then why don't you pay my bill?" Patient—"Sorry, doc, but I sleep so soundly now that my wife goes through my pockets nights and takes every cent."—Boston Transcript.

The Dimdumeries

"Whachu doin'?" queried the small boy as he peered cautiously out of the back gate into the alley where the apartment house janitor was superintending the cremation of a rubbish heap. The small boy's nostrils twitched appreciatively as he sniffed the bonfire.

Mike, the janitor, looked all around and then cautiously said: "Hist!" and crooked a finger.

"What is it?" gasped the small boy as he tiptoed hurriedly out and joined Mike on the windward side of the blaze.

"It's a cillybration, of mine," the janitor explained. "Every wance in a while I go through the rites."

"What rites?" in an awed whisper. Mike poked in a recalcitrant wad of excelsior and, after swatting the blaze around the edges, put one fist on his hip. "You didn't know," he remarked, "that I was chief of the Dimdumeries before I came to this country, did you? Well, I was!"

The small boy dragged up a box that had escaped the blaze and sat down on it very close to Mike. "Tell me," he begged.

"The Dimdumeries," explained the janitor, "is a flourishing society in the old country that has communication with ghosts an' fairies—an' an' spirits in general. Whenever a Dimdumery wants to talk to a fairy all he has to do is build a magic bonfire on a spot hit by the light of the full moon for five minutes on a Chuesday night. That's very important, picking out the right spot. And lay the first sticks pointing to ward the north!"

The small boy peered at the base of the bonfire, but the janitor sighed. "They ain't any spots that the light of the moon hits on a Chuesday night in this neighborhood," he mourned. "That is, except some that is occupied by buildings and otherwise engaged. But I say the magic words over my fires and pretend it's a glade I'm in and that there are fairies peeking out—"

"Did you—did you ever truly see a fairy, Mike?" the small boy almost whispered.

The janitor laughed condescendingly. "Did I ever see a fairy, now?" he repeated, scornfully. "Well, listen to that! Ain't I telling you how I was the chief of the Dimdumeries and what for would they be making me chief if I couldn't see more fairies than any other man in the county? There was one fairy who—look out, you'll be in the fire, now!—who used to pop up just as sociable an' smoke a pipe with me every time I lit a fire for him! Wance he said: 'Mike, I like you—you're a fine lad, an' you may have two wishes—anything you ask shall be granted!'"

"I know what I'd have asked for!" breathed the small boy. "An airship an'—"

"Airship!" Mike repeated in disgust. "That shows your heedless disposition! A real sensible person would have asked for a wagon load of money, wouldn't he? An' then he coulda got a fleet of balloons an' everything."

"Oh, of course!" agreed the small boy, much embarrassed. "Of course he would! But what did you do with all your money, Mike? If I was as rich as that I wouldn't work."

The janitor coughed and was very busy stirring the fire. "What did I do with it?" he repeated, scowling horribly. "I'll tell yer—much as I hate to do it, I stuffed it into old stockings, av course, and tuk a board of the wall and chucked 'em into the cavity. They was banknotes—an' the rats and mice ate 'em up. I should have wished for a bank that couldn't fail, for my second wish, an' then I'd have been a rich man today. Instead of wishing as I did for—"

"For what?" demanded the small boy.

"Candy," confessed the janitor, sorrowfully. "I couldn't think of anything I wanted so much as plenty of candy and I got it and ate it all up and that was the end of it!"

The small boy swallowed appreciatively. "Still, you had it," he said philosophically. "That wasn't so awful bad. Did you get chocolate an' caramels and lemon sticks?"

"Oh, all kinds," the janitor said, loftily. "I was sicker'n you ever dreamed of being, I tell you! It kind of soured me on that fairy an' I gave him the cold shoulder after that, but it didn't matter because right away the prettiest fairy I ever saw began coming out of a rose bush that—"

"Oh, tell me all about it!" demanded the small boy ecstatically.

"Will-he-tell!" came down from the back porch of one of the flats.

"There's your mother now," said Mike. "And anyhow—the magic fire's all burned out!"

A Nice Point.
"Every student of history knows that our Christmas customs are a development of Roman Saturnalia."
"Oh, surely not all!"
"I think so."
"No, no! There's no reason to suppose, for instance, that the Romans were all the time being hunched to do their Saturnalian shopping early."—Puck.
